Michael Taylor is the Senior VoIP Engineer at VoIP Supply. Michael handles technical support questions and has his very own VoIP lab to test products and help.

What is Elastix SIP Firewall? Elastix SIP Firewall is a frontier device, designed to be placed alongside a VoIP IP PBX in order to add an additional security layer.

Our crystal ball suggests that 2016 is shaping up to be a fantastic year full of VoIP surprises and excitement. We'll be there to cover every new development.

This article covers the initial steps in securing the default install of Elastix to make it more secure. You should complete this work even if your system is not.
